WASHINGTON.

A "Patched Drawers" Case Argued in the Supreme Court.

THE SOLEMN JUSTICES CONVULSED WITH LAUGHTER

By the Argument of Ex-Congressman John D. Wise, of Virginia—John M. Thurston, An Omaha Candidate for Secretary of the Interior, Now in Washington—Other Washington News.

New York, Dec. 21.—The Herald's Washington correspondent says:

If the supreme court had been transferred to the stage of a theater, and Wednesday's proceedings advertised, the sign "standing room only" would have been visible before the curtain went up, and when the last act of the drama had been concluded it is fair to assume that the entire company would have to respond to the enthusiastic calls of the audience. The usual sedate and solemn justices gave way before the wit and humor of counsel, and were convulsed with laughter. The fun began when the clerk announced Case No. 135, Robert H. Anderson, appellant, vs. Henry T. Miller & Company, and John D. Wise, the ex-congressman from Virginia, arose to state the case in behalf of the appellant.

It involves the validity of a patent for a patch intended to reinforce drawers in the crotch. Mr. Wise is a bright, witty young lawyer, bubbling over with good spirits. He seized at once upon the opportunity for a display of his talents as a fun maker, and with anecdote, sarcasm and rallery kept the court, justices, lawyers, spectators and all in a roar. Mr. Wise read from his brief the opinion of Judge Hughes, of the United States court for the eastern district of Virginia, in the case. This opinion is remarkable for its levity.

Judge Hughes said that it was a patent for a patch upon drawers, extending from the back of the waist band down under the crotch and up in a split form to the waist band in front. Of course it is a patch upon new drawers before worn. One of its merits is that it strengthens or, to use the euphemism of the patent office, "reinforces" the drawers at the crotch, where a catastrophe is most likely to occur. Then, as a statement of his reasons he did not believe a patent should be granted for this improvement, Judge Hughes said:

"It strikes me that a patent for a patch upon drawers, designed to remedy the evils of rip and tear to which they are liable in the crotch, ought never to have been granted, interfering as it must necessarily do with the prerogative of the housewives of the civilized world to patch the drawers of their husbands, fathers and sons freely in their own way, with no patentee to molest or make them afraid."

"It is impossible that the patch can be novel as to the simple matter of strengthening the seams and the material of drawers in the immediate region of the crotch; for if drawers do continually give way there it would be a reflection upon the housewives of civilized society, not to admit that for hundreds of years they have been in the habit of patching the garment 'and the forks thereof' by lapping the seams and 'reinforcing' the rents in that region."

"As to the disorders of men's drawers in and near the crotch, which have troubled housewives for centuries, I do not think any person in our day and generation can employ a patch for the purpose of preventing or curing them that can have any real novelty."

Mr. Wise dilated upon this opinion at length, and with inimitable gesture and expression warned the justices of the importance of the case to the feminine portion of the community, and of the wrath that was impending over them. Concluding, he said the case resembled the game of faro.

"There is this difference, however," said the speaker. "In faro the dealer gets all the splits, and in this the splits are all against the dealer."

At this sally the court lost likeness to its usually serious and dignified self. The laughter became boisterous and every one gave way freely to his feelings. Chief Justice Fuller could not restrain himself and almost fell out of his chair. Justice Harlan's huge form and big rosy, round face became convulsed with laughter until it became almost polemic. Justice Gray made a strong effort to preserve the dignity of the court, but he, too, was compelled to succumb and join in the general merriment.

Waddell Will Contest Wise.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Judge Edmund Waddell, Jr., Republican candidate against Representative George D. Wise, of the Third congressional district of Virginia, was in the city Wednesday to serve a notice of contest on Mr. Wise. The grounds set forth in this notice for the contest are objections to the casting of votes by Republicans in one ward of Richmond. Among the evidence Mr. Wise holds in rebuttal, besides testimony of witnesses denying illegal objections, is a letter stating that one of Judge Waddell's most active lieutenants had asked the writer to prepare the Democratic tickets in imitation of those put forth by the Democratic committee, excepting the substitute of Waddell's name for that of Wise. Wise will charge Judge Waddell with obstructing Republican voters, knowing he could not be elected and placing his hopes for success upon a contest.

Want Pure Elections.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Mr. Hohman, of Indiana, has introduced a bill to preserve the purity of elections. It provides that any person who shall receive or solicit subscriptions to be used at National elections shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punished by a fine or imprisonment. It is decided that this provision shall not apply to money used in printing ballots, running newspapers and otherwise disseminating information. Persons who bribe others or are bribed are disfranchised from holding office for four years besides being subject to fine and imprisonment.

At Times of Peace Prepare for War.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Mr. Blair introduced in the senate yesterday the bill introduced in the house by Mr. Chipman, December 10, providing for the construction of torpedo forts, rilled cannon, etc., also the bill for the construction of armored cruisers after the plans of Mason McCarty.

Bailey's Nomination.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—The information sought by the senate committee on the judiciary in the case of Bailey, appointed district attorney of Indiana, has been placed in the hands of a member of the committee. It consists of the petition sent to the attorney general by the committee of one hundred and heretofore published. It is expected that the judiciary committee will agree to an adverse report on the Bailey nomination at its next meeting, and that the nomination will be acted upon very summarily by the senate.

John M. Thurston in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—John M. Thurston, of Omaha, arrived in this city Wednesday morning. He is one of the western candidates for secretary of the interior under President Harrison. His friends think him entitled to some recognition as he was temporary chairman of the convention that nominated Harrison. They have been getting in some strong work for him.

He was at the senate during yesterday afternoon and saw many Republican senators. He said to a representative of the United Press that he was here on legal business. "I have not been to Indianapolis since the election," he said. "I guess there are enough pilgrims visiting Harrison now."

The Senate Recess.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—A holiday recess from December 21 to January 2 has been agreed upon by the Republican and Democratic senators.

The house amendments to the direct tax bill were non-concurred in by the senate and a conference was ordered.

It was ordered that voting on the tariff bill and amendments shall begin January 21, after which there shall be no further debate without unanimous consent.

Called Back.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—The senate committee on foreign relations will probably begin the investigation of the Samoan troubles on Monday next. Harold M. Sewall, the Samoan consul who had just started for his post, was intercepted at San Francisco by a telegram of the secretary of state, and he is now on his way to Washington, which he will probably reach on Sunday next.

Mrs. Judge Waite Ill.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Mrs. Waite, widow of the late chief justice, is lying ill of pneumonia at her residence in this city. From last Friday until yesterday her illness was very critical, but a favorable change took place yesterday and her physicians consider her past the danger point. Her son, Mr. C. C. Waite, who was summoned from Cincinnati, has returned home.

ROUGH TREATMENT

Of an Old Man at Akron by White Caps.

FINDLAY, O., Dec. 21.—Joseph Carn, aged sixty, a widower, was attacked by a small party of self-constituted White Caps in a lonely part of this city Tuesday night and was shamefully treated. He was on his way home about midnight, when he was seized, and was informed that he was to be punished for alleged immoral conduct. A rope was placed about his neck, and the rope being thrown over a limb of a tree Carn was drawn up until pretty well choked. He was frightened almost to death. The rope was then loosened and the party held a consultation, during which Carn made a dash for liberty and escaped. A notice was last night also posted on John Horn's door notifying him that he would be hanged if he did not feed his stock better. The perpetrators of these acts being quite well known now claim it as a joke, which will prove very serious if they do not desist.

Saloon Demolished.

FINDLAY, O., Dec. 21.—Early Wednesday morning parties disguised as White Caps demolished the saloon of B. J. Messmore, at Rawson. They smashed in the front of the building, broke up the furniture and poured the liquors on the street, after which they posted a notice to the proprietor to reopen at his peril, and left. Messmore is in Michigan, but when he comes home he will doubtless make a strong effort to discover just who compose the White Caps of Rawson.

Murdered in a Barn.

AVOCA, Iowa, Dec. 21.—Joseph Hair, aged twenty-six, who worked on a farm near here, was murdered Tuesday night. He heard a noise in the barn, and went out to investigate. When found his head was battered in and near by was a bloody roller.

Caught by a Shaft and Killed.

MADISON, Ind., Dec. 21.—Adolph McCarty, an employe at the ship yards, while oiling the machinery preparatory to launching a boat, was caught and drawn upon a rapidly revolving shaft, his neck and both legs being broken and a hand torn off.

WORCESTER, Mass., Dec. 21.—John Beljon, aged six years, and Bertie Holmes, aged nine, were drowned yesterday by breaking through the ice at Curtiss pond.

Flouring Mills Burned.

LANSING, Mich., Dec. 21.—The Capital flouring mills, at this place, were burned Wednesday night. The loss will reach $50,000.

DECISIVE BATTLE

Fought Between the English and Rebels at Suakim.

THE LATTER ROUTED WITH A LOSS OF SEVERAL HUNDRED.

The Loss to the British and Egyptians but Slight—The Sultan of Zanzibar Inaugurates a Reign of Terror by Beheading a Number of Natives—African Tribes Again at War—Cablegrams.

LONDON, Dec. 21.—Dispatches from Suakim state that a decisive battle has been fought, in which the rebels have been worsted and dislodged from their position. The combined force of the Egyptians and British made an assault upon the rebels.

They stormed the redoubts and trenches, and after a half hour's brilliant fighting the enemy was driven into the bush, completely routed. The rebel loss is estimated at 400 killed, with large numbers wounded. The loss to the British and Egyptians is slight. The British forces are now encamped in the position recently occupied by the rebels. The victory to the British arms is complete.

Later dispatches state that the British had four men killed and two wounded in the cavalry charge. The Egyptian black regiment made a brilliant charge upon the enemy's trenches, in which two were killed and thirty wounded. Only two Egyptian officers were wounded.

In the French Senate.

LONDON, Dec. 21.—The debate of the budget in the French senate Wednesday was not only in itself an exciting incident, but the fact was demonstrated conclusively that Boulangerism is rapidly spreading, and gaining in influence, and also that the government, in spite of its heroic efforts to appear calm, is positively alarmed thereat. Probably nothing that the government could have done would have had greater effect in estranging it from the respect and confidence of the populace than its action in the matter of the Panama canal bill and the dissolution of the chamber of deputies, and the revision of the constitution, as a direct consequence of the defeat of that measure, cannot much longer be deferred.

The speech of Senator Challemeil-Lacour has given the Monarchists to understand, if indeed they needed to be told, that their only advantage lies in the direction of active support of Gen. Boulanger, and their future action as allies of the men of destiny, covertly or openly, is beyond the bounds of doubt. It is true that M. Lacour deplored the downfall of the empire, and mildly deprecated the country's prostration at the feet of Boulanger, but what are the Monarchists to do in their present straits, if they do not join hands with the only man in France strong enough to overthrow the existing government, and take their chances of utilizing his power in their own interests later. This will undoubtedly be the course they will pursue.

It is a bitter pill for them to swallow, but it is perfectly plain that they must first accept the leadership of Boulanger, at least tacitly, if they would ultimately lead him and mould him to their purposes. That they can do this by no means certain, but the experiment, from their point of view, is worth making and it is confidently predicted by astute politicians that it will be made. The exuberance of the enthusiasm which has seized the Serbian radical peasants in celebrating their recent election victories by burning the houses of their political adversaries will scarcely have the effect to clear the political atmosphere in Serbia and the reaction which must take place after the cheerful jubilation of the semi-barbarians is over will doubtless afford Russia a pretext for restoring order by overrunning the country with troops whose corrective atrocities will cause the present outrages to appear insignificant.

Reign of Terror in Zanzibar.

LONDON, Dec. 21.—A dispatch from Zanzibar says the sultan has signaled his return by a remarkable outburst of fanaticism, which bodes no good to the peace and safety of his subjects or security of European residents. Tuesday morning he ordered the instant beheading of four natives charged with murder, but who had had no trial.

The sentence was carried out in the public street with clumsy brutality, and the bodies were suffered to lie weltering in their gore until evening. The sultan proposes to repeat this revolting spectacle every day for a week, there being twenty-four men and women under sentence of death.

He announces that he will be guided in the future by the Mohammedan law. What change this makes may be judged from the fact that capital punishment has been unknown on the island of Zanzibar for twenty-five years. Thursday's butcheries and threats of others to follow have caused a profound sensation.

The whites are shocked and the blacks terrified. Col. Ewan Smith, the British political agent, has waited upon the sultan and remonstrated against these cruelties.

Common action will probably be taken by British, German and other representatives of European powers, to prevent their recurrence.

News has been received of an outbreak between the Arusha and Masai tribes. The former tribe had enticed the Masai warriors into making a cow-lifting expedition, and during their absence the Arushas raided the Masai settlement, massacred the old women and men and children, and seized the younger women for concubines. They also carried off 14,000 head of cattle. The Masai warriors, returning from the expedition and finding their homes devastated, lamented for three days, and then commenced a war against the Arushas, which will probably last for three years, and result in the devastation of the country west of the Kilima-Njaro mountain.

Will There Be Trouble?

LONDON, Dec. 21.—It is asserted that the German government is endeavoring to compass the removal of Sir R. D. Morier, British ambassador to Russia. The stories of Morier's connection with Marshal Bazaine in 1870, have been revised and enlarged upon to an extent threatening the total extinction of the original yarns, but it is not believed that the czar can be induced to disturb the amicable relations of Russia and England, even to placate Germany, any more than England can be induced to recall a faithful and capable official to satisfy the whim of a monarch whose facility for getting himself into hot water is his most conspicuous characteristic.

An Italian Tragedy.

FLORENCE, Dec. 21.—The Countess Costa was stabbed to death in a carriage here by a captain in the army, who then committed suicide by shooting himself with a revolver.

An Arkansas Tragedy.

CAIRO, Ill., Dec. 21.—Passengers on the Cotton Belt road report a horrible tragedy at Paragould station, Ark. Tuesday night Officer Bryan, of Paragould, was detailed to serve a warrant on John Williams, who was charged with selling liquor contrary to the county law. Williams was also wounded, and will probably die.

The two women, Addie Stanton and Ella Hammond, who aided them, were remanded, and will be placed on trial next week.

NOW'S THE TIME

For Those Who Have the Means to Awake From Their Lethargy and Give Maysville
a Boost.

An Earnest Appeal to All Who Have the Welfare of the City at Heart.

Editor of Bulletin: For old Maysville's future prosperity, I beg you to give space to this letter which I write, and beg those who have the means and those who have the will to wake up from their lethargy and give the old town a "boost."

A month or so ago I had concluded to write an article and ask you to publish it about the same as this will be—and to that end I had made some memoranda. But just about that time a scheme was opened up to me which on its face showed that 20 per cent. could be made annually on the investment, and the property bought would increase and double in value in five years. From a selfish standpoint I wanted some of that, and went into it with the understanding that, if a committee appointed from the syndicate and sent to investigate found therein what was represented, the investment would be made. I had the honor of being made one of the committee of investigation, and just returned from Texas—Ellis County—our objective point. We were gone some twelve days, and I made it a trip of purely business, and from the time I left Cincinnati I was on the sharp lookout, comparing the lands with those of old Mason and the towns with old Maysville, for I must say that I felt somewhat conscience smitten, and was continually thinking why could not this sum that our syndicate proposed to invest in the far West be invested at home in some kind of a manufacturing enterprise, and bring perhaps as great returns as in the Lone Star State, and thereby not only benefit ourselves but help others, particularly the laboring man at home who wants steady employment. Thus, thought I, we might be the starters of a manufacturing boom in our midst that would give all the young men of the town employment so that they would not be compelled to migrate West, to grow up with the country.

We purchased tickets in Cincinnati for Dallas, Texas, going by the O. and M. road to St. Louis, and from there by the Missouri Pacific road to Sedalia, Mo., where we took the Missouri, Kansas and Texas road to Denison, Texas. From there we took the Houston and Texas Central road to Dallas. We passed through Missouri by way of Jefferson City, Sedalia and Nevada, and through the southwest corner of Kansas, going through Fort Scott and Parsons, and then on through Indian Territory from north to south and down into Texas as far as Waxahatchie, in Ellis County, through Denison, Sherman, McKinley and Dallas.

Without any prejudice I must say that I did not see better lands than there is in old Mason. Some of the towns were more populous and more smoke was to be seen coming from the manufacturing establishments, and the people seemed to be all busy, but still I could not discover why it was unless it was the people themselves, for, as I stated, they have no better land, and from what I saw and could learn they have no better climate. In short, they have no advantages over us. Therefore, I have concluded that it is all with the people, and it rests only with us as to whether or not we shall make old Maysville the center of the earth.

As for me, I am perfectly satisfied to stake my all here. With the co-operation that should be had, no old city in America will improve more rapidly than old Maysville. Let us all put our heads and means together, so that in a few years persons who left and return will fall to recognize the city as the place of their birth and former abode. We have not an over abundance of territory to build on, located as we are here on the Ohio river, with the hills rearing up high behind us, but there is considerable of vacant space and a number of old frame rookeries which are eye-sores to the business thoroughfares of our city. And I will here say that they are in the main owned by rich men, who are careful and cautious, who receive a good revenue in rentals from bar-rooms and doggeries and are content; and they will neither sell nor build until they are certain they will reap the whole usufruct.

Maysville, without hardly an exception, is the richest city in the country in proportion to her population. Her people have ever been marked by a degree of conservatism that is wonderful to speak of. They have never believed in taking chances, (with a few exceptions), but have been satisfied with clipping coupons off U. S. bonds, loaning money at 6 per cent. on Mason County lands, or collecting modest rents. By this means some men have, after a life time of struggling and living economically, accumulated fortunes and handed them down to their children. As an example, there will soon be offered for sale $50,000 of Mason County's bonds, bearing 6 per cent. interest and which will be paid likely in five years, and those bonds when sold are more than likely to bring 5 per cent. premium. Now why is this? and now to the point I have been trying to reach. I have given you herein a few points of my trip to Texas and the country and towns that I passed through. This was not the only trip I have taken away from home. I have been North, East and South, and never have I been anywhere where the country showed big corn shocks and where the wheat shocks stood thicker on the ground. And then you all know there is no country that can produce a greater quantity or better quality of tobacco than ours. But that is not all. All kinds of grasses, fruits and vegetables are grown, and then we have close to us hickory, oak, walnut, poplar and other varieties of timber, besides coal, iron ore and building stone in abundance, which are as fine as can be found in the United States, and which are opened up to us by the Maysville and Big Sandy Railroad, just completed, and which will run trains from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean. Besides, we have the Ohio River running parallel with it, and then there is the Kentucky Central Railroad, which will soon be tapped by roads running to the great timber and mineral lands of Eastern and Southeastern Kentucky, and when that is done, for a northern outlet the Maysville and Columbus road will be built, with the river bridge here at this point. But we need not wait for that. We have railroad facilities, natural advantages, agricultural products, timber, stone, coal, iron and other minerals that give us an advantage over any city or town I have ever seen. So now, right now, just as the M. and B. S. Railroad is completed and opened for traffic, let's make a move, for when regular trains begin to run men who have means and want to make investments will be found going along this road, looking out for points to make investments in real estate and manufacturing establishments. Let us show these strangers that we are awake and are taking advantage of the opportunities opened, and that we are ready, also, to lend encouragement and help to other enterprises that may be induced to come in our midst.

Now what kind of factories are there that can be established and made profitable here? The answer is what is there that could not be? For there is no manufacturing business here but what has been profitable to the promoters, such as our flouring mills, planing mills, plow factories, carriage shops, cigar manufacturing, etc., etc., and that too before we had the railway facilities which the opening of the new road will afford us.

Now we desire to increase our manufacturing, and we want iron foundries, shoe factories, wagon works, soap works, tobacco factories, furniture factories, general wood works, fruit and vegetable canning factories, etc., etc. To that end let's have all the people who are desirous of making and adding to their wealth and to make Maysville one of the big little cities of the country come together. I would suggest a public meeting to talk over the matter and take up some plan to bring about a boom in our old town. Let that be by establishing a Board of Trade or by reviving and bringing to life the Maysville Manufacturing Association—whose charter was passed several years since—by which a capital can be raised on the same plan as our building associations are managed, the funds so raised to be invested in some manufacturing.

Besides, there are eight or ten parties here in Maysville now who are desirous of getting into business and who can command from $10,000 to $50,000 each, and all that is necessary is to show them in what branches of manufacturing they can embark to make money, and for the city to do something to induce men of capital who have experience to come into our midst and join them in different enterprises. I find out West that to put a manufacturing enterprise on a solid footing from the start the merchants of the city who sell the article manufactured contract to take all the goods turned out by the factory for a given number of years. Why could that not be done here for a tobacco factory or any other factory? Now let's have a meeting and form an organization to boom our old city.

I cannot close without saying something about free roads into our city. I was in Waxahatchie on a Saturday while gone, and the country people were all in full force for miles around, and I found it the same in Nevada, Mo. From inquiry I learned that it was on account of free roads. Let's not forget our free roads. Let's all pull together with one long and steady pull and let all of our banks, merchants, manufacturers and everybody look and feel that we have but a common and equal interest in this matter, and that prosperity may be with us, and that from a hundred or more smoke-stacks the black smoke may puff and ascend in dense volumes and circle to the clouds; and that the crack of the hammer, the buzz of the saw, the whirl of the wheel, the hum of busy industry may be heard on every hand; and manufacturer and merchant may point proudly to what they have helped make our old town.

I beseech some of our pushing and energetic people to study this matter, and let's begin the work with the new year. I am ready to devote my time, energy and money (but I have got more time and energy than money) to the matter. Let me hear from you. Respectfully,
W. W. BALL.

Tate's Due Bills.

Attorney General Hardin, Judge Bush and Colonel John Barrett, the latter of Louisville, commissioners to audit the accounts of J. W. Tate, late State Treasurer, are in session again at Frankfort. They intend remaining there and meeting from day to day until the work is finished.

The various clerks and others who had money advanced to them by Mr. Tate were summoned to appear before the commission and file their affidavits making complaints, if any, and statements orally in substantiation of their offsetting claims to the due bills against them. Colonel Barrett says that out of nearly $60,000 worth of such bills and notes placed in the hands of the commission, about $25,000 or $30,000 will be collected. Nearly all the rest of it is not really due Mr. Tate, it having been paid and settlements made without a return of the due bills to the drawers of them.

VENEZUELA.

The Trouble Over the Presidential Election Ended

AFTER AN EXISTENCE OF NEARLY A YEAR AND A HALF.

The Defeated Candidate, General Crespo, Mans a Schooner With His Followers and Ranges Along the Coast Until About a Month Ago When He Was Captured After a Short Skirmish.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—The steamship Philadelphia brings the news of the restoration of peace in Venezuela. The trouble which has existed in that country for the past sixteen months grew out of the election of Dr. Rojas Paul to the presidency of Venezuela over Gen. Crespo, who had served one term in the presidential office.

Gen. Crespo on learning of his defeat, collected his most trusty followers, manned the schooner Anna Jacinta and sailed for Trinidad. Since that time he has been ranging along the coast with his schooner.

A few outbreaks in the provinces of Barcelona, and Crespo, on the part of Crespo's adherents, were easily and speedily put down by Gen. Paez, who was entrusted with that mission by President Paul. Crespo, however, succeeded in eluding all pursuers until about a month ago the man-of-war La Libertad was sent in quest of his schooner.

The man-of-war with a select crew and Gen. Paez on board, came up with the Anna Jacinta on December 2, off Curacao. She was ordered to surrender, but it seems did not obey the command.

In the skirmish that followed one of the crew of the Jacinta was killed, but in a little while the vessel was made a prize and her commander and crew captured. Among those taken prisoners was ex-President Crespo.

They were all transferred to the La Libertad and brought to Laguayra the following day. From there Gen. Crespo and his followers were taken to Caracas, and are now in prison and in due time will be put on trial and punished for taking arms against the republic.

The news of the capture of Crespo will have a benign effect on the trade of Venezuela, for while he was at large shippers were loath to send vessels to Venezuelan ports.

The natives of the country are overjoyed at the capture of Crespo, and believe that the country will now have uninterrupted peace for years to come.

It is not believed that Crespo will be executed, but will be sent to prison for a couple of years to reflect upon the dangers of overreaching ambition. He is very wealthy and a member of the old families of Venezuela.

Lillie Davis' Seducer Slain.

LEAVENWORTH, Ind., Dec. 21.—George Davis, of Marietta, Ind., this county, shot and killed William L. Gregory, one of the indicted White Caps, for the seduction and abduction of his sixteen-year-old daughter, Lillie Davis, Wednesday evening at 5 o'clock. Davis came to Leavenworth to surrender himself, but neither of the officials was here to receive him. Davis still remains in town. Gregory had returned to West Fork and resumed his duties as postmaster at that place. It was supposed Davis was here for the purpose of filing an information for the arrest of Gregory on a charge of seduction.

"The American Commonwealth."

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—The Herald publishes several columns of extracts from Professor Bryce's new book, "The American Commonwealth," which is highly spoken of by English critics, and has even been likened in importance to De Tocqueville's great work on Democracy in America. The extracts show careful observation, and a surprising correctness as to facts. The view taken of the American people is decidedly complimentary, and the author thinks the problems confronting us are not greater than our intelligence can solve.

Flight from an Aged Lover.

LOGANSPORT, Ind., Dec. 21.—Anna Bettcher, a pretty girl of eighteen, left her home Saturday ostensibly to meet a lady friend at the depot, since which time nothing has been heard of her. Against her will she had consented to marry an old man named Brunish, and the wedding was set for Christmas. Charles Arnold was the favored suitor of Anna, and although she had accepted under duress the ring from another, she asserted that she would drown herself before she would marry the old man.

Trying to Save the Wicked Journalist.

CHICAGO, Dec. 21.—Realizing the need of evangelical work among that hitherto neglected class, the newspaper publishers, editors and reporters, the Young Men's Christian association inaugurated a series of "receptions" to the newspaper fraternity, which will be continued at intervals during the winter and spring. The program includes a service of song, prayers and addresses by well known divines and members of the association.

Farmers Wager Their Crops.

CORRYDON, Ind., Dec. 21.—Maj. J. S. Pfirmer and James Benson, neighboring farmers in Franklin township, this county, made an agreement last spring that the one raising the most corn on an acre of ground should have the yield of both acres, it being stipulated that no fertilizer should be used. The corn has been gathered, and Mr. Benson takes the crops. He raised 111 bushels on his acre, while Maj. Pfirmer raised 109.

South Dakota.

HURON, Dak., Dec. 21.—South Dakota is strongly opposed to the new plan outlined by Congressman Springer for its admission. This half of the territory has had a constitution for three years and is ready to enter the Union without going through the work of framing another organic instrument.

A Mother at Fifteen.

BRAZIL, Ind., Dec. 21.—Nancy, wife of David Harris, a German farmer residing a few miles south of Brazil, has just given birth to three boy babies, each weighing just three and a half pounds. They are perfectly formed and are apparently healthy. The mother is but fifteen years old.

Still Missing.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—Up to the present time nothing has been learned of the missing ticket agent, Harris, supposed to have departed from the employment of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad as a defaulter. Experts are at work on his books.

Whisky Trust Still Talking Fight.

CHICAGO, Dec. 21.—There will be a meeting of representatives of the whisky trust in this city a few days hence, at which it is understood that a considerable reduction in the price of the commodity will be announced. The object of the move is to freeze out the distillers, who, like Schufeldt, Lynch and others, refuse to join hands with the trust. My Poor Back!

That "poor back" is held responsible for more than its share of the sufferings of mankind. If your dog bites a man who kicks it, do you blame the dog? On the same principle the kidneys utter their protest against nervousness, impure blood, and resulting constipation. These force them to do extraordinary work in ridding the system of the poisons which are the result of effete matter retained in the blood. Then the sufferer says the back aches; the kidneys are diseased. "Not yet;" but they will be unless the nerves are strengthened, the blood purified, and the constipation removed. These are the causes of kidney troubles, and Paine's Celery Compound removes them quickly. With its tonic, purifying, and laxative effect, it also strengthens the weak kidneys, making it almost infallible in curing all diseases of the nerves and kidneys. If your hopes of cure have not been realized, try Paine's Celery Compound; it gives perfect health to all who complain of "their poor backs." Price $1.00. SOLD BY DRUGGISTS. SEND FOR ILLUSTRATED PAPER.
